

Thursday, January 28th at 7:00 pm

Elantris by Brandon Sanderson

Elantris was gigantic, beautiful, literally radiant, filled with benevolent beings who used their powerful magical abilities for the benefit of all. Ten years ago, without warning, the magic failed. Elantrians became wizened, leper-like, powerless creatures, and Elantris itself dark, filthy, and crumbling.

Thursday, February 25th at 7:00 pm

The Last Policeman by Ben Winters

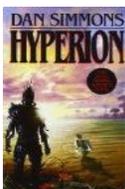

What's the point in solving murders if we're all going to die soon, anyway? Detective Hank Palace has faced this question ever since asteroid 2011GV1 hovered into view. There's no chance left. No hope. Just six precious months until impact.

Thursday, March 31st at 7:00 pm

Diamond Age by Neal Stephenson

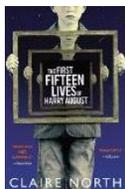

Set in twenty-first century Shanghai, it is the story of what happens when a state-of-the-art interactive device falls in the hands of a street urchin named Nell. Her life—and the entire future of humanity—is about to be decoded and reprogrammed...

Thursday, April 28th at 7:00 pm

Hyperion by Dan Simmons

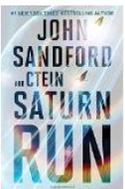

On the eve of Armageddon, with the entire galaxy at war, seven pilgrims set forth on a final voyage to Hyperion seeking the answers to the unsolved riddles of their lives.

Thursday, May 26th at 7:00 pm

The First Fifteen Lives of Harry August by Claire North

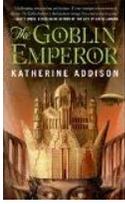

Harry August is on his deathbed. Again. No matter what he does or the decisions he makes, when death comes, Harry always returns to where he began, a child with all the knowledge of a life he has already lived a dozen times before. Nothing ever changes. Until now.

Thursday, June 30th at 7:00 pm

Saturn Run by John Sandford and Ctein

The year is 2066. A Caltech intern inadvertently notices an anomaly from a space telescope—something is approaching Saturn, and decelerating. Space objects don't decelerate. Spaceships do.

Thursday, July 28th at 7:00 pm

The Goblin Emperor by Katherine Addison

The youngest, half-goblin son of the Emperor has lived his entire life in exile, distant from the Imperial Court and the deadly intrigue that suffuses it. But when his father and three sons in line for the throne are killed in an "accident," he has no choice but to take his place as the rightful heir.

Thursday, August 25th at 7:00 pm

My Real Children by Jo Walton

Patricia Cowen forgets things she should know – what year it is, major events in the lives of her children. But she remembers things that don't seem possible. She remembers marrying Mark and having four children. And she remembers not marrying Mark and raising three children with Bee instead. She remembers the bomb that killed President Kennedy in 1963, and she remembers Kennedy declining to run in 1964 after the nuclear exchange that took out Miami and Kiev.

Thursday, September 29th at 7:00 pm

Three Parts Dead by Max Gladstone

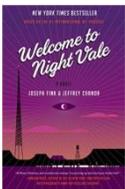

A god has died, and it's up to Tara, first-year associate in the international necromantic firm of Kelethres, Albrecht, and Ao, to bring Him back to life before His city falls apart.

Thursday, October 27th at 7:00 pm

Assassin's Apprentice by Robin Hobb

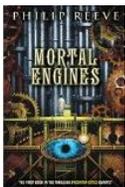

Young Fitz is the bastard son of the noble Prince Chivalry, raised in the shadow of the royal court by his father's gruff stableman. He is treated as an outcast by all the royalty except the devious King Shrewd, who has him secretly tutored in the arts of the assassin.

Thursday, November 17th at 7:00 pm

Welcome to Night Vale by Joseph Fink and Jeffrey Cranor

Located in a nameless desert somewhere in the great American Southwest, Night Vale is a small town where ghosts, angels, aliens, and government conspiracies are all commonplace parts of everyday life. It is here that the lives of two women, with two mysteries, will converge.

Thursday, December 29th at 7:00 pm

Mortal Engines by Philip Reeve

Welcome to the astounding world of Predator Cities! London is hunting again. Emerging from its hiding place, the city is chasing a terrified little town across the wastelands. Soon, London will feed.